Construction: Desert Fox: Built Right!

Desert Fox 24AS - Bali Hai Interior

Whether it's materials like our one piece heavy gauge roof membrane, our one piece corona treated filon outer wall, our WBP marine grade plywood decking, our thick wall aluminum framing, or our construction grade dimensional lumber, we use only top quality materials in the Desert Fox.

We assemble our coaches using the best proven construction methods and processes too. Within our laminated walls are fully welded (not spot welded) aluminum frames with solid block foam insulation. Our custom cabinet production uses face frame construction & real plywood shelving (not chipboard). Our Northwood roof truss system bonds exterior plywood decking to the trusses as a unified structure that is amazingly strong yet light weight. On Desert Fox travel trailers, the diamond plate front rockguard is tough, attractive and built to last. The Desert Fox is quality materials and construction from start to finish!

A Solid Foundation

Structural Steel

All Northwood 5th Wheels & Travel Trailers are built with structural steel main rails of I-beam or C-channel. The full length main rails and full width cross members insure a solid structure for easier towing and a quality feeling structure under foot. Chassis also include Z cross members for additional strength.

All Northwood Travel Trailers include dual battery racks that are welded directly to the frame. Travel trailers include a large capacity, dual LPG tank rack that is conveniently located at the trailer tongue for quick access.

We design and build our own chassis to guarantee quality. We use only top quality Rustoleum finish to prevent rust. We also double prime our welds for added protection.

Camber Welds

Special welds are applied along the top of the main rails to create camber. Our cambered frame has greater load carrying capabilities than others. Our chassis functions in the same way as a pre-stressed structural beam. The Desert Fox won't sag like the some competitors models under full load weight. (Even after many years of service). Extra considerations such as these insure that your Desert Fox will maintain its value and that Northwood coaches will continue to be a top performer among competitive RV manufacturers.

Welds along main rails create camber

Cast Iron Gas Manifold

We nest our LP gas manifold line within the chassis structure to protect it from damage. We use larger dimension pipe to improve gas flow to all appliances. We also use brass fittings to attach appliance feed lines to the manifold. All of these considerations make our gas supply system extremely durable and problem free. LP lines are protected with vinyl sleeves and sealed with silicone when they pass thru the floor.

Durable Loading Ramp

Extra Large Cargo Bay

Compact Stowable Furnishings

The Desert Fox is a true 4-Season Coach. Our fully insulated holding tank area circulates warm air around the suspended tanks providing the best protection from freezing. The tanks are large and will hold up to 118 gallons of fresh water, 70 gallons of gray water storage, and up to 50 gallons in the black storage tank. The black holding tank comes with an internal sani-flush system for easy maintenance.
